

FULL OF MIRTH, COLOR, ACTION

Teal's "The Girl and the Game," Draws in Spite of Rainy Night.

Mirth and humor, grace and brightness of dancing girls, breezy musical numbers and light and color a-plenty, were the prevailing characteristics marking Sunday night's entertainment at the Crawford theater, where "The Girl and the Game," one of the best song shows recently staged by Raymond Teal, is the latest offering.

"The Girl and the Game," a musical comedy in three acts, is full of intrigue and suspense. Situations, rather farcical and extravagant, yet highly entertaining, interspersed as it is by songs and dancing numbers of the chorus, most of which are unusually good.

Fields and Teal Prominent.
The musical comedy, and other John Jones, who makes an occasional quiet escape from "home sweet home" to the white lights, is well taken off by Fritz Fields, while Raymond Teal, who has a small though not insignificant part as negro waiter, later at a cafe and later at the home of John Jones, won the approval of the audience by his clever impersonation.

Raymond Teal, Frank Jacquet and Gracie Harris, the gay lotharios of the play (though the first two are married), played roles well suited to them. Hazel Lake, as Nanette, the spoiled and not at all bashful maid, played quite a favorite.

"Huckle" Lead Color.
"Huckle," brightly costumed, lead color and action to the musical selections. "When the Sun Goes Down in Dixie" was sung by Mr. Long, Miss Madeline Lee and chorus sang "Egypt in Your Dreams" Eyes" and Miss Hazel Lake sang the closing number, "The Time They Cross in the U. S. A."

The house was filled to capacity in spite of the rain, and it is more than probable that during the run "The Girl and the Game" will draw large audiences.

"America's Sweetheart" at the Wigwam in "The Little American."

"The Little American," conceived by all who have seen it to be Mary Pickford's best picture, will play a return engagement at the Wigwam today, tomorrow and Wednesday. This is the film that recently broke all Pickford attendance records at the Wigwam. It was aptly called "The Girl Spangled Banner of the Photo Art."

The production was made under the direction of Cecil De Mille, who produced the greatest of all pictures, "Joan the Woman." It is romantic, spectacular and awe-inspiring. It will be more for recruiting and for instilling patriotism than the speeches of a dozen orators. This is the picture which the pro-German corner of Chicago, under Punke's banner, barred because it might offend the German-American, but the entire community of it and gave permission for its showing. In it is depicted some of the acts of the Germans which were denied by them, but are known to have taken place. Mr. De Mille was aided in the production by a well known English novelist, from the trenches who witnessed some of the German outrages.

The picture shows a U-boat in operation. Scenes of the inside and on the outside are shown and the firing and striking of a torpedo are a feature. A giant ocean liner is sunk and scenes are seen leading into the ocean, only to be refused assistance by the brutal German submarine commander. Battle scenes are reproduced and the trenches and hills of "No-Man's Land" are prominent places in the picture. Through it all runs a pretty love story. No one who sees "The Little American" can help being aroused and his patriotism. If latent, will be called into life. Every soldier who sees it will go out of the theater with a solemn vow to do his utmost to kill a few Germans if he can and to help throw off the yoke of German brutality, which the Kaiser is trying to inflict on humanity.

Come to the matinee, if possible, as crowds were turned away every night on the first showing at the Wigwam in July.

Tuesday, the latest hit in pictures, Marie Osborn, will be at the Wigwam.—Adv.

THE UNIQUE.
The Pathé News, with an abundance of war scenes, Matt and Jeff in "A Chemical Calamity," a swell Christie comedy and "A Vamp of the Camp," will be today's show at the Unique. "A Rag Baby," which is a Hoyt comedy, and other good subjects, will be shown tomorrow. Harold Lockwood in "The Hidden Spring" will start a three days engagement Friday.—Adv.

HIS HOME TOWN OPPOSES JONES'S PEACE RESOLUTION

Amarillo, Texas, Aug. 12.—Congressman Martin Jones is finding scant endorsement in Amarillo, his home town, of a peace resolution he offered in Congress. Leading men have written him personal letters advising that he might encounter his time in a warm reception at this particular hour. One such official said that he had always been a close friend to Congressman Jones and had written him that the real people of this district knew that a representative could not push such a resolution and be in harmony with the administration. Several prominent men characterized it poor representation of a section that had established the best record in the United States for the number of enlisted men, many counties going above their draft quota.

Police Of Two Cities Perfect Working Plan; Two Wanted Men Held

According to the El Paso police the relations existing between the military authorities and police of Juarez are better than have ever existed between the two cities. Saturday afternoon a meeting was held by the authorities of Juarez and chief of police R. J. Zabarskie at the office of the chief in this city, at which it was agreed that each city would give to the other all the aid possible in apprehending criminals.

The meeting grew out of a request of sheriff M. Lucero, of Dona Ana county, N. M., who called on chief Zabarskie and asked him to aid him in securing the arrest in Juarez of three men wanted in Dona Ana county. Two of the men have since been arrested in this city by Sheriff Lucero and are being held pending arrangements to bring them back to the United States. Both men are said to be American citizens.

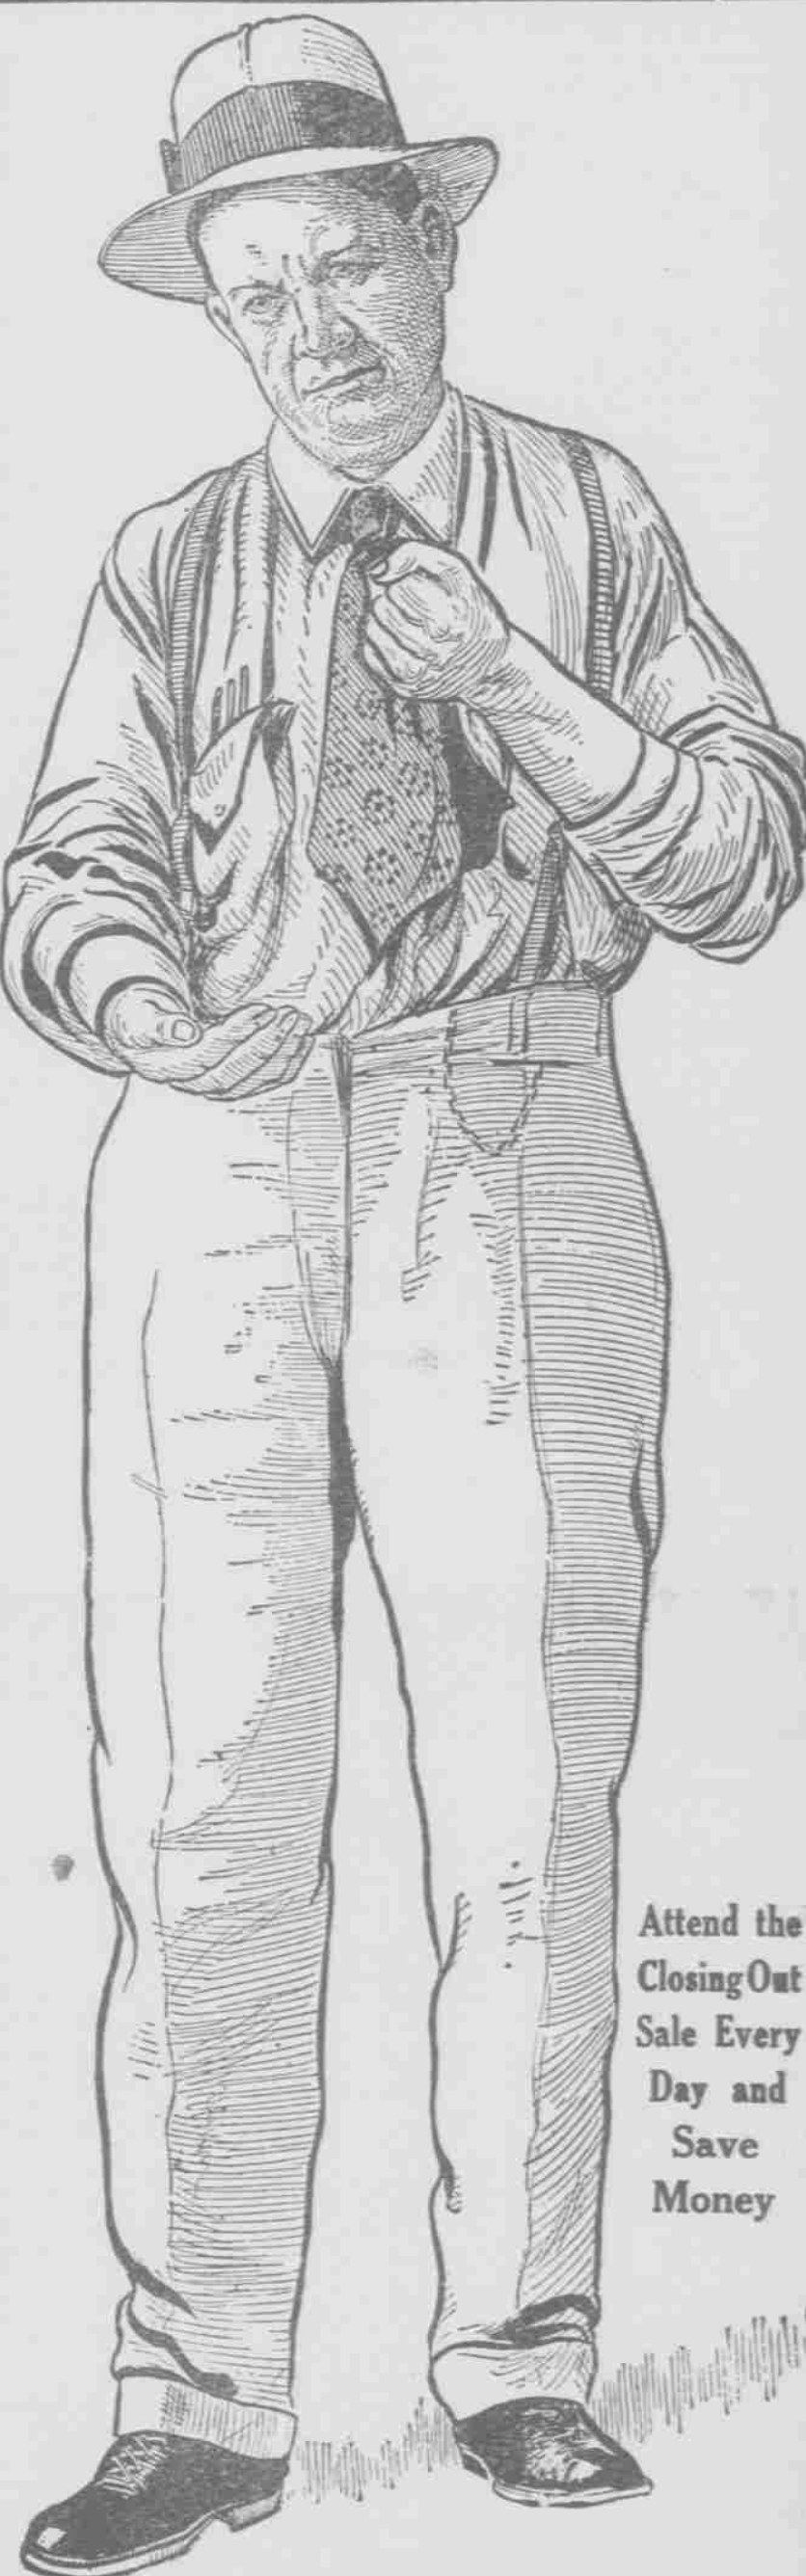

One of the men under arrest, it was said, had joined the Mexican army. Sheriff Lucero said he did not think it advisable to give out the names. One of the men is said to have killed a woman at Las Cruces about six months ago by shooting her seven times with a pistol. The other shot a man at Anthony about the same time. It was said by the authorities that the man who shot the woman was accompanied by a severe electrical storm.

Cleary, Bisbee Lawyer, Tells The Police Chief Things Before He Goes

After being called to the police station Saturday evening to be interrogated by chief R. J. Zabarskie, the Bisbee lawyer W. B. Cleary, departed from that mining city to Columbus, N. M., with 1200 L. W. W. strikers, and Fred Struckmeyer, another Bisbee man, who accompanying Cleary to El Paso, left later at night for the west. It was said that Cleary was said to have advised that there are 100 "wronged men" at Columbus. He said there are some L. W. W.'s there, but that there are men in the camp who never belonged to a union, but worked in a mine. He spoke of the autonomy of Arizona, which he said, severed them from their home city. He spoke in defense of the workingman's struggle against capitalist profiteering, denounced newspaper men and intimidated by his remarks that he expected to get a place on a chautauqua circuit to tell the American public the facts concerning labor and capital.

Cleary and Struckmeyer were taken to the union station in an automobile, accompanied by Capt. L. L. Hall and two officers.
